

August 22, 2004

Find a businessType or Name City

Province

AB FIND >>*Find A Person

Powered by

SUPERPAGES.ca®
Your Phone Book OnlineTODAY'S EDITION*Top Stories

Full News index

Business

Full Business index

Spotlight

Spotlight index

Sports

Full Sports index

NEWS*NEWS SPORTS BUSINESS
SPOTLIGHT COLUMNISTS EDITORIAL

Sun, August 22, 2004

Conservatives stumble
Party 'on vacation,' loses ground in poll
By Bill Rodgers, Ottawa Bureau Chief

The summer disappearing act of Conservative Leader Stephen Harper and his party has some members grumbling as a new SES/Sun Media poll shows the party's popularity dropping in every region but Western Canada. The post-election survey of 1,000 Canadians taken earlier this month has the Conservatives' national support dipping by four points to 26% from the party's 30% showing in the June 28 election.

The drop is even steeper in Ontario where support has trailed off to 27% from an election day high of 32%.

"The last time voters heard from the party this summer was when Leader Stephen Harper was musing about stepping down," said one frustrated senior Conservative.

"And at the same time, the words of Randy White were still ringing in voters' ears."

ILL-TIMED REMARKS

White, a British Columbia MP, landed Harper's campaign in hot water just days before the election for remarks he made about gay marriage, use of the notwithstanding clause and the role of the courts.

A spokesman for Harper refused to discuss the poll.

"We're going to stick to our general rule. We're not going to comment on poll numbers," said Harper's press secretary Carolyn Stewart-Olsen.

SES pollster Nik Nanos isn't surprised by the party's slide, noting the Conservatives haven't been proactive since the election, allowing Paul Martin's minority Liberal government to keep the Commons dark for three months, with hardly a whimper of protest.

"They've gone on vacation," said Nanos.

WHAT'S RELATEDWINNIPEG
ON CANOEWinnipeg weatherManitoba weatherMooseBlue BombersTV ListingsMovie ListingsFEEDBACK*Letters to the Editor

Send a letter

Contact the Sun

We love to hear from our readers - complete e-mail directory

SERVICES

Circulation

Contact our circulation department, or subscribe online

Advertising

Display advertising information

Classifieds

Place a classified ad online

Personals

QUICK HITS

Comics

Lotteries

Crossword

Horoscopes

Danny Pruden

Max Haines

NEWSPAPERS/MAGAZINES

Sun Media Newspapers

The last image Canadians have of Harper's Conservatives, he said, is a party under blistering attack by the Liberals in the final days of the campaign for slip-ups on bilingualism, abortion and how it would handle the gay marriage issue.

"In the last 10 days of the election, they got beat up by the Liberals and they haven't done anything to respond to or rectify that," said Nanos.

On the other hand, the Grits have spent the summer as if the election campaign had never ended.

"If an election is 18 months away, you can't throw away three months," Nanos suggested.

The SES poll shows the Martin Grits with the support of 38% of committed voters. The party has made post-election gains in every region of the country except Quebec. The New Democrats are also up slightly since the June election with 17% of committed voter support.

The telephone survey was conducted Aug. 5-11 and is accurate to within 3.1%, 19 times out of 20.

Party favourites

In a Sun Media/SES poll, 1,000 Canadians were asked which party they would support if an election was called today. The chart below compares current voter support with results from June's federal election:

AUGUST 2004 JUNE 2004

LIBERAL 38% 37%

CONSERVATIVE PARTY OF CANADA 26% 30%

NDP 17% 16%

GREEN PARTY 5% 4%

UNCOMMITTED 14% N/A

Previous story: Ironcops face big challenge

Next story: Pickets greet public at Riding Mountain

PRINTER-FRIENDLY VERSION

E-MAIL TO A FRIEND